DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-7 and 9-14, drawn to an oxidation reactor, classified in class 422, subclass 158.
- II. Claims 8 and 15, drawn to a process for producing (meth)acrylic acids, classified in class 562, subclass 598.
- III. Claims 12-20 drawn to a method for analyzing an easily polymerizable compound by gas analysis, classified in class 422, subclass 83.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another and materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case the process as claimed can be practiced by another and materially different apparatus, for example one without a manhole nozzle.

Inventions I and III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different designs, modes of operation, and effects (MPEP § 802.01 and § 806.06). In the instant case, the method for gas analysis does not employ the oxidation reactor except as a source of analyte and the oxidation reactor cannot be employed to perform the gas analysis.

Inventions II and III are directed to related inventions. The related inventions are distinct if the (1) the inventions as claimed are either not capable of use together or can have a materially different design, mode of operation, function, or effect; (2) the inventions do not overlap in scope, i.e., are mutually exclusive; and (3) the inventions as claimed are not obvious variants. See MPEP § 806.05(j). In the instant case, the inventions as claimed are related process claims that share the goal of producing of a gaseous, easily polymerizable product. Art anticipating or rendering obvious one process would not anticipate or render obvious the other. Furthermore, the inventions as claimed do not encompass overlapping subject matter and there is nothing of record to show them to be obvious variants.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because each invention requires a search that is not co-extensive with that required for any other invention(see MPEP § 808.02), restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Art Unit: 1621

1. No telephone call was made to request an oral election because of the complexity of the subject matter.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

Conclusion

2. Claims 1-20 are pending. Claims 1-20 are restricted.
